

Grateful Dead Set List Change Log

Changes made after publishing First Edition (first sold on 4/20/2021)

7/24/2021 Changes

1974-07-25

- Change Dark Star to Dark Star Jam

1969-07-07

- Thanks to GEMS who submits that Greg and Duane Allman do not play on Lovelight.

Changes 9/26/2021

1970-09-25

- Added new songs based on a show review by Jacob Wiesel, from the Los Angeles Free Press, 2 October 1970:
  - Casey Jones (opener)
Easy Wind
Candyman
Good Lovin' (w/ drum duet)
Dark Star
Mona>
Lovelight (closer)
  - <http://deadsources.blogspot.com/2020/07/september-25-1970-pasadena-civic.html>

1966-12-05

- Remove Your Sons and Daughters and Fire in the City. Those songs are tape filler from a different studio session with Jon Hendricks
- References:
  - <http://hooterollin.blogspot.com/2014/06/sons-and-daughters-american-documentary.html>
  - <http://deadessays.blogspot.com/2013/07/studio-outtakes-1965-1974.html>
- Thank you to Harry Angus who pointed this out

1965-12-18

- Delete set list – as Jesse Jarnow pointed out, these songs weren't written yet! Thank you Jesse, and I feel silly now hahaha.
- Add Midnight Hour: <http://deadessays.blogspot.com/2015/09/deadbase-corrections.html>

Corrections to the text

Dedication to include Tyler Roy-Hart

There was a time period in 2021 when I was finalizing the book in order to get it to the printer, and Tyler Roy-Hart had previously joined the Jerry Base team several months before. I was focused on my deadline, and getting the formatting of the On This Day section correct and I forgot to include Tyler in the Dedication section. That section should read as follows (page 3, paragraph 4):

A third big special “thank you” goes out to the fine folks at JerryBase.com. I started collaborating with Joe Jupille, who authors the Jerry Garcia’s Middle Finger blog, Michael Jacobs, the programming wizard behind the website, and Tyler Roy-Hart, the site’s user interface design expert. What we’ve created is the world’s most complete and updated set list searching website, so Dead Heads finally have a single place to search all the Grateful Dead set lists as well as Jerry Garcia side project set lists in one place. I recommend you use JerryBase as the primary way to get access to the recordings, but you can of course use whatever method you’re most comfortable with.